(Verbatim, from Los Angeles Examiner of May 23, 1955):- HERE WE GO AGAIN! - British Scientists Are Sure Now Of Flying Saucers and Little Men. ---

(Remember the creepy stories about Flying Saucers and Little Men from outer space?.. Dorothy Kilgallen has run into a new one in London. Here is her dispatch to the New York Journal-American on what a British official thinks about those little fellows.) -(By Dorothy Kilgallen, N.Y. Journal-American staff correspondent) ---

"London, May 22. -- I can report today on a story which is positively spooky, not to mention chilling. British scientists and airmen, after examining the wreckage of one mysterious flying ship, are convinced these strange aerial objects are not optical illusions or Soviet inventions, but are flying saucers which originate on another planet.

"The source of my information is a British official of cabinet rank who prefers to remain unidentified. 'We believe, on the basis of our inquiries thus far, that the saucers were staffed by small men -- probably under four feet tall. It's frightening, but there is no denying the flying saucers come from another planet.'

"This official quoted scientists as saying a flying ship of this type could not have possibly been constructed on earth. The British government, I learned, is withholding an official report on the "flying saucer" examination at this time, possibly because it does not wish to frighten the public.

"When my husband (Richard Kollmer, Broadway producer and radio commentator) and I arrived here for a brief vacation, I had no premonition that I would be catapulting myself into the controversy over whether flying saucers are real or imaginary. In the United States all kinds of explanations have been advanced.

"But no responsible official of the U.S. Air Force has as yet intimated the mysterious flying ships had actually vaulted from outer space."

(So much to say about this that words fail us. Comments of Associates awaited with interest). ml

Delineation of the Ether: (from The Nature of Infinite Entities, via Orfeo Angelucci.)

"The only and eternal absolute is the Ether. We fail to imagine or behold absolute in any other condition. Only in a good concept of the ether can man finally say--'Lo, and I perceive the absolute!' This is the only precise estimate and measure we shall forever know of it.

"Being the only absolute, the ether can, therefore, perform in quasi-infinite ways. This because a performance has been permitted to function in it, and has never ceased. Therefore, its condition is no longer absolute or infinite, but quasi-absolute, and quasi-infinite. For if it were absolute, were it then what; absolute fluid; solid, or gas?

"THUS, the ether is fluid only because at a precarious point of moment it strives, but fails to be a solid or a gas.

"THUS, the ether is a solid only because at a precarious point of moment i t strives, but fails to be fluid or gas.

"THUS, the ether is a gas only because at a precarious point of moment it strives, but fails to be a fluid or a solid.

"If we perceive only the seeming non-resistance of the ether, it tempts us to define it as a gaseous affair.

"If we consider only its density under a pressure, its state as a fluid predominates.

"If we concede that it is the only absolute existent, then we can conjure up no idea except that it is a solid. This notion is further strengthened by the fact that the hardest of solids owe their very existence to the ether; and that all solids being subject to melting, whereas the ether is not, we can conclude that the ether is indeed the absolute solid of the universe.

"The ether is not a solid. This is because there is no such condition in the universe as absolute zero temperature. The free energy in space which prevents absolute zero condition is the factor which prevents the ether from being the state of a solid. This free energy gives the elasticity to the ether, is the very essence of the speed of light. It explains gravity, magnetism, and the regeneration of matter by creation of cosmic rays.

"The ether does give resistance to moving bodies. This resistance is directly proportional to the velocity of the body. The body moves because the rear "closing" thrust is equal to the frontal resistance. But, as the velocity of light is approached, the frontal resistance asserts itself, or increases proportionally. Thus a moving body shrinks, and at the velocity of light disappears, becoming then a light ray, or a fissure in the ether, having only the form of a diameter a n d a length, or a photon or sub-photon.

"This phenomenon could be observed in a bubble of water which is in motion forward. At a critical velocity (sonic barrier of that water), it would lose all spherical shape and become an elongated, darting affair, as a ray."

PROCEEDINGS Of the College of Universal Wisdom: Vol. 3 No.7; May 1955.

Under the title Angels Are People, Director G.W. Van Tassel describes an experience with a visitor-from-Space, occurring on August 24, 1953. The space-man awakened Mr. Van Tassel about 2:00 a.m. on a night of the full moon, introduced himself as "Solgonda", and invited him to inspect his "ship", which was hovering about eight feet off the ground and about a hundred yards distant. "The craft was about 36 feet in diameter and some 19 feet high", and carried three other occupants. Solgonda displayed various features of the construction and Van Tassell says he "understood the principle of operation". Two days later "the vortex set up by the field from the ship" would still swing the compass needle some ten degrees. All communication from Van Tassell to the space man was telepathic; i.e., Solgonda pickd up the questions before they could be put into spoken words. "People are everywhere", says Mr. Van Tassell, "and Angels are people who come out of space."

Under the heading Secondary Power - Free Energy and Smog is a description of a comparatively simple 'magnetic' set-up which has protected a 10-acre orange grove against frost for some five years past (in place os smudge pots)."There are over 200 of these units now in operation . . . Here is the answer to the bulk of the smog condition ... put free energy to work". This word FREE perhaps explains the indifference or hostility of many officials and dealers in smudge oil. This whole matter is past the experimental stage and can be investigated by anyone. If seriously interest, write to or visit Mrs. Hazel DeLand, 4437 8th St., Riverside, Calif., or Mario Glick, 2559 Missouri Ave., South Gate, Calif. Send for a copy of this May issue of the Proceedings quoted above; P.O. Box 419, Yucca Valley, Calif. No fixed price indicated, but contributions are needed and are put to good use. Recommended to all BSR Associates.

HIGH GAMMA RAY FALL-OUT AT COLUMBIA, MO. (Kansas City Star, May 11, 1955).

'Colombia, Mo., became an atomic 'hot spot' on May 10 with gamma ray readings pronounced 'incredible' but 'far below the safe maximum' by atomic scientists. A spokesman for the A.E. Commission said in Washington, however, the agency had "no reportsof any significant fall-out anywhere as a result of the last blast of a nuclear weapom May 5. . . Dr. W.D. Keller was surprised when his equipment registered a fallout reading of 25 milliroentgens . . . (It was suggested that maybe Dr.Keller had found a "hot spot". The excessive fallout seems to have been confirmed. In possible connection with this is the unexplaineddeath of one-third to one-fourth of bluegill and bass fish at a farm pond eight miles north-east of Columbia).

"GLASS POX" DESCRIPTION:

"Since the last fall-out of a few days ago I have seen my first pitted window in a car - and it is a sight worth seeing. It was a rear window that had been pitted and it was teh strangest and most weird thing I have ever seen. I wish I could describe it but I can't. However, it has a definite pattern. Starting in an upper right hand corner it fans out like a spray of bubbles from a water hose. It is impossible to see through the window at all - it is entirely opaque. The things called pits are not really such; they are as series of little circles about the size of the end of a child's little finger. These are about one-eighth of an inch apart, all over the glass, with lines connecting each circle. The effect is weird but beautiful. There is a definite symmetrical design such as an artist might do in mosaic. The glass does not show any place where an object might have hit it. It just looks as though some one had taken a fine glass cutter and cut clear through from the outside to the inside. It was so clearly cut through that our friends had to drive the car very carefully to keep the window from falling to pieces. There is no part of the window which is not pitted. It looks like a picture in frequency, if that makes sense, for it definitely has a pattern, but like a tapestry from another world. It reminded me of a woodcut being pressed down very hard on a piece of material and leaving its imprint. It is just as though a machine had stamped a pattern clear through the glass. Ah, now I know! It is more like a snowflake design. As I stood looking at it I thought "I am seeing the beautifulform of a force - no blow from a rock could possibly have created it..."

Alta Van Aken (Cottonwood, Ariz.)

(Some of these effects on glass are truly extraordinary,and attempts to reproduce them by mechanical means have so far been unsuccessful. ML).

"Hell and old Harry, what shocks our own space explorers will likely have if and when they land on this same 'dead' moon! Dead? More likely life of a sinister type. Our ignorance is great, our conceit boundless and our unteachability extreme- in relation to the so-called science of astrophysics and the moon. Idiots peering into the void of space and prating of light years and parsecs and wilfully blind to all the mysteries in our terrestrial backyard. In vain do the Gods try to fight against our boundless conceit and utter stupidity. . .

"In Australia alone, since Janu ary 1955, I can assure you that experiences of reliable people with these weird visitants from outer space have been terrifying. They may be your 'tourists' from unknown worlds - but who yet knows? . . .

"An ex-air-woman, friend of mine, near Portsmouth, Hants, reports tremendous and mysterious explosions in the night skies, preceded by strange uneasiness of two dogs who normally are quiet animals. . ."

Harold T.Wilkins (Eng.)

Q-ENERGY FILM:

Our mention of this curious product in a recent issue brought a considerable number of inquiries from doctors (osteopaths, chiropractors, 'naturopaths'generally) as well as from laymen using the film for various ailments. All reports on such use have so far been favorable. A letter from Originality House, distributors of the film (480 Avalon Ave. Akron 20, Ohio) contains the statement that "the film has been tested by nuclear scientists and is in use in all atomic laboratories." Altho not developed as a commercial enterprise, its applications are extending and can be used by anyone without risk. BSR Hdqrs has a small explanatory brochure, with sample of the film, at $1.00; or address Originality House.

SAN ANDREAS:

Residents of California, especially from the 39th parallel south (Punta Arena) will be interested in an article in current Collier's (June 10, '55) dealing with the San Andreas fault. Apparently almost anything unpleasant may or may not happen along this fault line, according to the geologists; according to the prophets of Whoa and Distress it will be worse than that - as the BSR has reported occasionally during the last ten years.

FLUORIDATION NEWS:

Associates interested in the compulsory medication outrage of adding fluorine to city water supplies will do well . subscribe to the National Fluoridation News, published "six to ten times a year, at 2930 W. Grand Blvd., Detroit 2, Mich. as a general and scientific information medium for anti-fluoridation forces, national and international." Single copy .35; yearly $3.50. The May 1955 issue is No. 5 of Vol. 1. (Fluoridation was applied in San Diego for several months, then discontinued by popular vote).

KOCH TREATMENT BOOKLETS:

Assoc. W.T. Black calls attention to an error in the BSR booklet on the Koch treatment. "You quoted a doctor to the effect that Dr. Koch went to the Belgian Congo with Professor Maison. A letter from Maison denied this and you readily accepted the correction. Please note that you also stated that Dr. Koch was a relative of Dr. Robert Koch who discovered the TB germ. I have a letter from Louis Koch which states that this is not correct. He also says that the number of physicians using the Koch treatment is nearer 400 than 4000 . . ."

We are glad to print these corrections. For obvious reasons (all creditable to Dr. Koch) there are no dependable statistics on physicians using the K therapy. Incidentally, it is interesting to note that one physician-surgeon of high standing on the West Coast states in print that he has personally treated some 5000 patients with the Koch oxidation catalysts, with a very high percentage of cures. This result applies not only to cancer patients, but to the extensive list of allied allergies as well.

Memo. from Assoc. Gilbert Ryan:

"While in Palmdale, Calif., I tried to make inquiry concerning Muroc Lake (Edwards) Air Force Base, the President, the UFO etc. Was told by a native: We don't ask questions around here; to investigate leads to being investigated. . . It is reported that all birds leave the area of contamination at Yucca Flats prior to a detonation? Why? Group Soul in action? (Or that birds are smarter than humans, anyhow? ml).

The Phantom Caravan -- (by Assoc. Don Green) -- Years ago a caravan of sixty covered wagons, bound for the gold country of Yreka, California, vanished from the face of the earth. It has been seen, intact, many times since then. If you will bear with me in that it is possible for a discrepancy of six years to creep into a story that had its origin nearly an hundred years ago, we'll see if we can bring these two events into a semblance of continuity -- THE MOUNTAIN MEADOW MASSACRE AND THE PHANTOM CARAVAN.

In the latter part of the year 1857, and during the Utah Reformation and 'Blood Atonement' .... a band of emigrants from Arkansas and Missouri, on their way to California, entered the territory. About 135 or 150 people, men, women, and children, were in the caravan. They were badly treated, and hustled from one place to another without mercy. They were not allowed to buy food, or stop long in any one place. Finally reaching Mountain Meadow valley with scant supplies, they planned to rest up for their excursion across the treacherous desert country. It was in this blind valley that the whole band was ambushed by a handful of hired Indians and a host of renegade whites.

The cruelty, treachery, and violence of the butchery was beyond any known precedent, at least in this country. Fifteen children, all that were allowed to live... thought to be too young to remember were taken back to Salt Lake City. That was a mistake -- some of them remembered.

A number of years ago, in Los Angeles, some neighbors of ours were intensely conscious of that 1857 atrocity ... An elderly lady of the family claimed that she saw her mother scalped by white men in that frightful enormity. She said, it was the work of fiends, rather than men. She was one of the fifteen youngsters taken back to Salt Lake City - 'Too young to remember'?

Naturally the members of that family were somewhat bitter...and we learned much about the Mountain Meadow affair... The old lady died somewhere around 1914...Also authority for the foregoing is the book, "A Life In Bondage", by Ann Eliza Young, written in 1875. Enough to say, we have covered only sketchily a short chapter, and that with considerable mitigation. The reason for writing of it at all is to stress the point that it is the frightful violence of such acts that triggers off forces that engrave vivid and lasting pictures or impressions. The emotions implant something of the persons themselves so deeply into the curtain of time, or the Ethers, that they become clairvoyantly visible...or visible to sensitives.

It is our belief that the persons who see these travelling scenes of the caravan, are extremely sensitive to such phenomenon... And there is no reason to doubt that the picture is extant and has been since the date of its execution...Possibly shifting across the states of Utah, Arizona, Nevada, and California... It is pretty well established that any intense desire at the time of transition will impress, or influence, to some extent, the after-life of the entity or entities, and anything connected directly with them.

The site of the massacre is approximately thirty miles from the Arizona-Utah line; the first record of sighting the caravan was somewhere in the Gila River country, Arizona, in the neighborhood of 300 miles farther south, that was in 1867. The next sighting was in the Painted Desert, Arizona, in 1872... 160 miles north. In 1886 they were seen prowling around the Grand Canyon, somewhere around 120 miles north and west. The next move on the record shows them in Death Valley, California, in 1901; that would be some 250 miles due west.

The caravan apparently drifted around this Death Valley country until 1922 where they were seen again at the Funeral Mountains. From there they back-tracked 300 miles south and east to Skull Valley, Arizona, where they were seen again in the latter part of 1929, or early 1930. This seems to be the last record of t h e i r wanderings.

It may be significant to note that the wanderers were never seen again in any part of Utah after the massacre. Another point to juggle with is that all the recorded sightings, with the exception of one, occurred at intervals of about sixteen years... Perhaps now that the time lapse has been 25 years...and if the excarnates are in any way connected with their images...which they may be...these homeless rovers have severed the psychic umbilicus tie to Mother Earth and gone on to a more settled and stable existence.

A word of caution to those who are prone to attribute all this to hallucination.. Remember that hallucination is only a word, used mostly by those who tire easily, and would dismiss solid thinking. It is also amusing to note that any agreement on hallucination may be an equal delusion.

Our daily lives which we sometimes consider humdrum, really abound with wonders beyond the scope of the most extravagant romance. Our minds cannot grasp or understand one-half the things we see. How much less then, are we equipped to understand the things that affect our senses?

We won't settle for hallucination because, in our book, nothing is ever settled.. We leave each chapter open for correction and future editing.

. . . "Today there is no dead end of impenetrable density as in the million ages gone when Life, perchance unknowing of itself, entered upon the enterprise of fabricating form. For in spite of the masses of matter, the multitude of things, and our own stubborn obtusities, a new world is coming to birth, invisible, intangible, but potent with possibilities that no man on earth has ever contacted before.

"What privilege is our portion in this day of dawning deliverance from the dominance of darkness incarcerating the spirit midst the insulating solids?. It is a day of ressurection; but few sense it yet, for here we reach the custom's barrier between the old world and the new age. New potencies are now at hand, call them what you will - electronic, etheric, spiritual, telepathic, radiesthetic; but where are the men of mind, imagination, and sand ingenuity who can bridge the gap between the portentials of the new age and the portly obtusity of the two-dimensional mortals who are clumsily trying to defend themselves and the outworn remains of a solid civilization?. . . ADDENDUM: Correspondence of Assoc. Gilbert Ryan:

Frank Edwards is back on the air again, sponsored by the American Locomotive Trainmen, A.F.L. Time: 1:00 - 1:15 P.M. Place, National Broadcast Co., K F I, Earl C. Anthony, Los Angeles. Just caught it ten minutes ago, this Sunday May 29. It was a re-broadcast of a transcript by Edwards, who is now on a 'mission'.

(I give it as near as I can remember it).

'A large number (under 100) of American scientists, investigators etc. have been dispatched by the Federal Government here, traveling in government Air Service planes, to Venezuela, South America.

'The secret and hasty departure is to investigate 'Flying Saucers' that of late have been seen in alarming numbers down there. All shapes and sizes. They have been seen and photographed on the ground, along with their operators - and in the air. Several hundred have been seen by many people.'

(end of semiquote)

I am at present mystified as to why they appear in that area. It is 9 to 11 degrees north of the equator and between longitudes 60 and 70 deg. West. An area due south of Newfoundland. I'm puzzled because I know Venezuela quite well. (How well is another matter). It is a near-inaccessible land of high mountains and swamps, covered a hundred feet deep by perpetually green undergrowth, and tropical heat from which rises a blanket of fog that locks it all in semi-darkness. The jungle floor is spotted in rare places by tiny patches of sunlight. It is called the Green Hell and the White Man's Graveyard. The total coast line along here is where the northmost extent of the huge Matto Grosso jungle chops off at the sea. The fiercest races of man on this earth live there - headhunters and descendants of escaped former slaves (blacks).

WHY? I ask, WHY should the Entities be investigating Venezuela? A base of operation? A rendezvous? Civilized man has done no mischief here. It is Nature in the raw. Law of the jungle. Tooth and claw. Is it to be Pre-Eden of the Old Testament? Man's last stand?.

To be sure, the Federal safari will never reveal to the public what it discovers. The Powers-that-Be in the Pentagon will buzz for a while in puzzlement , then file it and forget it . . . Yet Venezuela is a vast storehous of Nature's wealt. Oil and commercial diamonds, mahogany . . . All these skip-and-jump facts are only to outline why I say I can't understand the UFO's being there. Why - and WHY? . . . . . .
